Arbitration the Only Means of Sattlement

I Ondon March 1 The Times correspondent in Parls scouts the idea of a conflict between France and the United States over France's attitude to San Domingo it sittee, however, he says, that certain I redoch settlers have submitted all sorts of claims against which San Domingo protests. This shows that arbitration is necessary at the earliest possible moment. The principles and traditions of the United States forbid its looking on with addifference whonever a four open power assumes an imperious attitude toward any American State, especially which, as here, citizens of the United States have spent money in the country and have capital guaranteed by customs which the foreigners may menace. On the other hard France, which certainly has grievances against San Domingo, cannot think of renouncing her claims on the more refusal to accept them the increased conduction is that the only means of settlement is arbitration.

Spain at first if reatened recallatory measures, but thought better of it later being influenced by the protests which were made by her West ladian dependencies tion The Democratic Administration, coming into power on a platform promising greater freedom and friendliness in our foreign trade, has actually embroiled us in a general tariff war. The ostens ble cause is the distriminating duty which the Corman tariff levice upon sugar coming from bounty paying countries. The real cause is the summary abrogation of the friendly reciprocal arrangements which were made under the Mckinlev law and were rudely over thrown by the enactment of the new

Now walving all discussion of responsubstity for the sunden bostility shown to us by foreign Governments, what is the clear duty of the Administration in the strike back, and to hit hard. It is reported that our Government is to file a protest against the action of the French Cabinet But protests will be treated with polite indifference | Fareign Governments need to be taught that the United States has weapons of its own, and that it a trade war la to be waged, i will not be wholly one-sided There is no need of legislation on thi question President Cleveland has already at his hand a weapon which is entirely sufficient, though, rather singularly, it has escaped notice up to the present time. It is contained in the fifth section of the act of 1800, relating to the inspection of meats for exportation,

"That whenever the President shall be satisfied that upject discriminations are made by or under the authority of any foreign State against the importation to resident such foreign State of any product of the United States, he may direct that such products of such foreign State, so discriminating against any product of the United States, as he may deem proper shall be excluded from importation to the United States, and in such case he shall make proclamation of his direction in the premises, and therein name the time when such direction against importation shall take effect, and effer such date the importation of the articles named in such proclamation shall be unlawful. Altayre, March 1. The city was bedecked with flags and the quass crowded with people to-day as a mark of welcome to the steamer LaGascogne. The big ship entered the harbor at 130 r. M. The regimental band on one of the lecties played the Marseillulae and other patriotic airs as the vessel came in. Members of the municipality and a large number of leading citizens bounded the steamer and congratulated Capt Baudelou and officers upon their courage and seamanship lajbringing the ship safely into New York. Luncheon was served on board tie steamer at 4 o'dlock at which the mayor, other members of multipal government and a number of members of the chamber of commerce and others in commercial life were entertained by the captain and staff. and others in commercial life were en-tertained by the captain and staff.

But the nurvelous thing about Arcturus is its movement. It has, comparatively speaking, a very distinct "proper motion" across the sky, though not as large as some stars. Liately, however, the spectroscope has ascertained for us the pace of stars along the line of sight, and Arcturus travels, it is now believed, at the rate of 830 miles a second. Such speed as this is truly terrific, and we may well ast where this furious star is hurrying to. As Arcturus, ten generations hence, will not have moved to the sye by as much as the diameter of the across we shall have plenty of opportunity of discussing the question.—London Spectator. At the Opera House last night Frohman's company presented 'The New Boy" to quite a large audience The play itself has but little merit and not a sufficient quantity of ideas and action to excuse its being spread out over three acts, still there is considerable to laugh over in one way and another, ulthough you may wonder afterwards what yo were laughing at.

The company is one, however, which makes the most out of a rather unworthy aubject and made merriment, where or dinary players would have failed.

the limits of the State under the course of the railroad commissioners, has manifestly been the paramount object of the legislation on this subject since the enactment of 1878. The several provisions in regard to the right of application and the apportionment of the expense, en-acted in different years, are of a subordinate character and secondary importance. They are not all conditions precedent to the jurisdiction of the rail-road commissioners in unincorporated

The fact that all the provisions of the statute respecting the right of applica-tion and the adjustment of the expense in the case of cities and towns, are not also applicable to unincorporated places. tion and the adjustment of the expense in the case of cities and towns, are not also applicable to unincorporated places, cannot take away the jurisdiction by the railroad commissioners over the latter while there is an express provision applicable to all crossings authorizing an applicable to all crossings authorizing an application by the railroad company, and also placing upon the company the burden of the expense. In the case of cities and towns either the municipal differs or the railroad company may invoke the inrisdiction of the railroad commissioners, and thereupon the expense of building the way within the lights of the railroad company, or be apportioned between the commissioners may determine.

But with respect to ways in unincorporated places where there are no municipal officers, the application can paly be made by the parties owning or opierating the railroad; and inasmuch as there is no provision for the payment or apportionment of the expense applicable to such a case, except that which places this on the railroad company, the expense must be borne by the railroad company, the expense must be borne by the railroad company, the large and the application appears to

The Cowan Trial Almost at an End.

Case Will go to the Jury This Afternoon.

The interest in the trial of Mrs Mary Lowan on the charge of murder showed no diminution yesterday but was in reased if anything. The court 100m was packed all day, as usual Elius Cowan resumed the stand mawer to Mr Builey's questions wit ess said Mrs Cowan told hem she had purchased some poison, had put it in a ofscuit, and placed it up stairs for the rats

Dr. king was then recalled for a momertand asked if convulsions some times occur in the case of argument porsoning, to which the witness replied in the affirmative the government hare rested its case.

and Mr Robinson opened the argument for the defense. He said that he shared with the jury the great responsibility which rested upon them all me trying this important case and wished from the bottom of his heart that this unfortunate woman had been pecuninrily able to procure counsel who could have better as sisted his Brother talkin in his (florts in her behalf. Pressed and worn out with other business, with so short a time to prepare the defense, contending with the government so strong and powerful in money and the great ability of its counsel, in its staff of sheriffs and other officers and like an occup stemmer in full qualit moves on with its might; power and momentum. #### BREWER LOCALS. FATAL ACCIDENT.

Brewer Friday.

Peter Kennedy, of South Brewer, was he viction of a fatal accident which occurred at the pulp mill yard about 10

Felock in the forenoon yesterday.

He, with a man named Morrill, were loading a car with wood for the engine room, taking the wood from a pile perhaps lo feet high, when a large bundle of slabs and edgings, frozen together, fell from the top of the heap and struck

A few minutes clapsed before Morrill was aware of the accident, being on the other side of the partly londed car, but e soon discovered it and called for help. Kennedy was taken to the engine room where he died in a very few moments, not having recovered consciousness after seing struck by the mass of wood and ice, which probably weighed 300 pounds. The weight; of the blow on his head and reck probably caused his death, by its result to the nervous system. One of his or his temule.

Remnedy was about 32 years of age ind was a young man well liked by all who knew him. He was a sailer and had arrived home from a voyage but a few weeks ago, having been with schooner Ernest W., Prescott when she was ing there in his father's place this week. He leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy, and also a brother und ristefs.

THE ATHLETIC GIRL. She Is Sweet Enough, but Some of Her Ways Are Not.

Who doesn't know the girl who goes around whacking other girls on the backs and pounding them in the stomachs and pummeling them in their chests, saying: "Why on earth don't you stand up? You're as humpy as a camel

Some folks say that this girl is all right; that she fills her niche in the world's gallery of welldoors with ability and unselfishness. This may be true, but if you happen to be a girl and wander into the way of this welldoor you long to implore her to adopt milder methods. It isn't pleasant when you are discussing the latest wrinkle in hairdressing to have somebody suddenly give you an awful thump between the shoulders and say: "Stand up, there, now! If you bend over much more, you'll stand on your head." Then you are likely to double up as quickly as a folding bed unsolicited doubles down, and for a moment you may imagine that you are in the hands of patented massage machine or floundering in the whirring arms of a windmill.

It is this same girl that "does her on the back porch every morning, to the amusement and gratification of a huge audience stationed at numerous windows. She first plants her hands on her hips and draws several long breaths. Sho puffs her chest out pigeon fushion and snorts like a feminine Sandow. Aft. er that she stretches her arms to. ward a neighboring clothesline, and by that time spectators, open mouthed and interested, have assembled.

A man in the act of shaving puts down his rezer, deserts his mirror and brush and devotes himself entirely to gazing at the twisting stretching vision of athletic loveliness. A kitchen lady trots out of a back door with a bucket of potato peelings, but stops midway of her journey to look. In every other winlow along the entire row of houses beams a face and as the athletic maiden becomes more and more warmed up to her playful and invigprating performance each face grows into a group of three, or even more. After a few mornings of this the shaving gentlemen and the kitchen lady defer their individual employment until the vision on the back porch starts up her Delsartean poses.

Sometimes when she is in a specially humoro is mood she gives an imitation of Lattie Collins' celebrated rough and tumble dance, and at such moments the audience nexts its universal approval. Whatever her actions, she's sure of a crowd of onlookers, and even if her audience Miss Mabel Lincoln leaves to-day for long as the faithful tape measure tolls her that her chest has widered months' of muscle developing tortare and exhibitions of graceful wardances. -- Philadelphia Times.

A pliful case has recently come to itention in Lewiston. A votag Syrlan woman, only diacteen, and yet left well two little children to support has been peddling goods about our streets. She has signed her promise to bay in the books of a Boston firm and hitherto has always been able to do so which her goods have been sold. Now, the firm has her name for one hundred dollars and her bosband has taken the best of the goods and disposed of them. "My godenother, say he no drink, he make you a good home and so I marry him," is the way this poor woman sums up the judicion of a fourteen-years-old girl; for that was her age when the marriage took place. There is a deal of truth in one other of bar pathetic utterances: "You no know how I live and I no know how, you live." Kind people intend to see if there is The secret of its success is that it is the best blood purifier ever produced. It is king over all forms of septiales, all rheum and all other blood diseases, sall rheum and all other blood diseases. A practical attachment has been invented by a Lowiston man, whereby all owners of bleyeles at a small outlay may be able to possess this useful and pleasurable article for winter, and not have the sport confined to summer alone. It is enled by the inventor a smow hicycle. While it is not supposed to go through snow drifts, it has been practically demonstrated that it can go over roads where the sleighing is fairly good. On the ice its works to perfection. It is capable of greater speed on the ice than the regular machine can possibly accomplish on the land; it is also easier to mange and will turn sharperingles; it is also capable of greater speed from the fact that one revolution of the rear wheel covers eighteen teet of surface; it can be started or stopped quickly and the attachment being easily applied to the ordinary wheel makes it alsuccess in every way. A single light, hour runner is substituted for the front whiel, and an iron frame is attached to the frame work of the machine, the rubber tire is removed from the rear wheel, and spurs in the shape of a U bolted on to the rin, the frame work runn between these spurs and has a single fron runner at the base. My little girl Hazel is now four years old. Two years ago she had the grip. After recovery her eyes grew inflamed and supturated. For over 7 months she had to have her eyes bundaged and stay in a dark room. The family doctor and an oculist did overything possible. She did not improve and even grow worse. At last after six months he gave us the discouraging opinion that the cornes of one eye was de-
